6 UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
7 DISTRICT OF NEVADA

8 GEORGE YESKE, et al.,) Case No. 2:15-cv-01513-GMN-NJK
9 Plaintiffs,)
10 vs.) ORDER DENYING MOTIONS TO 11 ALEX BENDETOV,) COMPEL
12 Defendant.) (Docket Nos. 31, 32, 33)
13

14 Pending before the Court are Plaintiff's Motions to Compel Discovery. Docket Nos. 31, 32, 33.
15 The Court finds that each motion has threshold defects that require that they be DENIED without 16 prejudice as discussed more fully below.

17 I. MEET AND CONFER REQUIREMENT

18 The initial inquiry with any motion to compel is whether the moving party made adequate meet
19 and confer efforts. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 37(a)(2)(B)¹ requires that a "party bringing a motion
20 to compel discovery must include with the motion a certification that the movant has in good faith
21 conferred or attempted to confer with the nonresponsive party." Similarly, Local Rule 26-7(b) provides 22 that "[d]iscovery motions will not be considered unless a statement of the movant is attached thereto
23 certifying that, after personal consultation and sincere effort to do so, the parties have not been able to 24 resolve the matter without Court action." Local Rule 26-7. This requirement serves an important 25 policy. It operates "to lessen the burden on the court and reduce the unnecessary expenditure of 26

27 ¹References hereinafter to "Rule" are to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure unless otherwise 28 noted.

1 resources by litigants, through the promotion of informal, extrajudicial resolution of discovery disputes.”
 2 Nevada Power v. Monsanto, 151 F.R.D. 118, 120 (D. Nev. 1993). In order to serve this purpose, the 3 parties must “treat the informal negotiation process as a substitute for, and not simply a formal
 4 prerequisite to, judicial review of discovery disputes.” Id. Accordingly, it applies equally to discovery
 5 sought from parties and nonparties alike. Nelson v. Willden, 2014 WL 4471628, at *2 (D. Nev. Sept.
 6 10, 2014).

7 There are two prongs to the meet and confer requirement. First, the moving party must submit
 8 a certification which “accurately and specifically conveys to the court” the substance of the consultation.
 9 ShuffleMaster, Inc. V. Progressive Games, Inc., 170 F.R.D. 166, 171 (D. Nev. 1996). This certification
 10 must “specify who, when, or how the parties attempted to personally and meaningfully discuss the 11 discovery dispute.” Id. at 172. Second, the “party must in good faith confer or attempt to confer with 12 the nonresponsive party regarding the discovery dispute.” Id. at 171. This means the movant must 13 “personally engage in two-way communication with the non-responding party to meaningfully discuss 14 each contested discovery dispute in a genuine effort to avoid judicial intervention.” Id.

15 Here, in an effort to satisfy the meet and confer requirement, Plaintiff has provided the Court
 16 with letters exchanged between him, Defendant’s counsel, Wendy Williams, and James Eagan. See
 17 Docket Nos. 31 at 6; 32 at 6; 33 at 6. The Court will give Plaintiff the benefit of the doubt and assume 18 that these letters were sent on the date indicated to the correct addresses.² The mere exchange of letters,
 19 however, does not satisfy the personal consultation requirement. See ShuffleMaster, 170 F.R.D. at 172.
 20 Plaintiff also represents that he “made attempts to call” Defendant’s attorney, Wendy Williams, and
 21 James Eagan. See, e.g., Docket Nos. 31 at 4; 32 at 4; 33 at 4. The certification attached to Plaintiff’s
 22 motion, however, fails to detail the “who, when, or how” he attempted to personally and meaningfully
 23 discuss the discovery dispute. See ShuffleMaster, 170 F.R.D. at 172. It does not detail when he called,
 24 how many times he called, or method he used to ensure that the parties would be able to meaningfully
 25 discuss each contested discovery dispute in a genuine effort to avoid judicial intervention.

27 ² Where a party is proceeding pro se, the Court must “construe the pleadings liberally and to 28 afford the [party] the benefit of any doubt.” Hebbe v. Pliler, 627 F.3d 338, 342 (9th Cir. 2010) (citing Bretz v. Kelman, 773 F.2d 1026, 1027 n. 1 (9th Cir.1985) (en banc)).

1 Consequently, the Court finds that Plaintiff did not comply with Local Rule 26-7(b)'s personal
 2 consultation requirement prior to bringing these motions.

3 II. FULL TEXT REQUIREMENT

4 Discovery motions are governed by Local Rule 26-7(a), which requires "all motions to compel
 5 discovery [to] set forth in full the text of the discovery originally sought and the response thereto, if
 6 any." Without the complete text of the requests and responses, "[t]he Court cannot determine that
 7 particular responses . . . are improper." Allstate Ins. Co. v. Balle, 2013 WL 5323968, at *4 (D. Nev.
 8 Sept. 20, 2013); Agarwal v. Oregon Mut. Ins. Co., 2013 WL 211093, at *3 (D. Nev. Jan. 18, 2013)
 9 (denying motion to compel, in part, for failure to comply with 26-7(a) because "judges are not like pigs,
 10 hunting for truffles buried in briefs"). "Practically speaking, the failure to comply with [Local Rule]
 11 26-7(a) improperly shifts the burden to the Court to sift through and root for issues that should be clear
 12 on the face of a discovery motion." Taylor v. Aria Resort & Casino, LLC, 2013 WL 2355462, at *4 (D.
 13 Nev. May 29, 2013).

14 Although Plaintiff represents that "a copy of said subpoena is attached hereto[,"] no discovery
 15 requests are attached to Plaintiff's motions. See, e.g., Docket No. 31 at 1. Without the complete text
 16 of the requests, the Court cannot determine whether the requests and responses to them are improper.
 17 The Court, for instance, cannot inquire into whether the subpoenas comply with Rule 45(a)(3), which 18 requires the Clerk of Court to issue a subpoena, signed but otherwise in blank, to a party who is not an 19 attorney authorized to practice before the Court. Nor can it ascertain if the subpoenas were properly
 20 served. Further, as to the subpoena directed at Defendant Bendetov, the Court cannot determine whether
 21 Plaintiff is attempting to use Rule 45 to circumvent Rule 34, the usual method of requesting documents
 22 from an opposing party in the discovery process. United States v. 2121 Celeste Rd. SW, Albuquerque,
 23 N.M., 307 F.R.D. 572, 588 (D.N.M. 2015) ("a subpoena may be served on another party so long as it
 24 is not used to circumvent [R]ule 34 or the other discovery rules"). Plaintiff's failure to satisfy Local
 25 Rule 26-7(a) obfuscates important substantive issues, and therefore, the Court denies his motions on this 26 additional basis.

27 //

28 //

1 Plaintiff is advised that, although he is proceeding in this matter pro se, he must fully comply
2 with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and the Local Rules. See Banks v. Joyce, 2014 WL 7330938,
3 at *1 (D. Nev. Dec. 19, 2014) (telling pro se plaintiff to carefully read the same). Accordingly, for the 4 reasons stated above, Plaintiff's motions to compel discovery (Docket Nos. 31, 32, 33) are hereby
5 DENIED without prejudice.

6 IT IS SO ORDERED.

7 DATED: March 28, 2016.
